

- 2 -

D' a plurality of said spots having different spot sizes are formed on said uppermost surface of said base plate, and an uppermost surface of said biochip is defined by upper portions of said plurality of spots.

---